

Morning Review

Dear Friends, Family, and Esteemed Future Investment Masters,
Good Morning!

"Success usually comes to those who are too busy to be looking for it." A wonderful week has passed, and new adventures are about to begin! Last week, we achieved exhilarating excess profits, with Strategic Partner total asset returns ranging from 100% to 500%—what an exciting accomplishment!

However, this is just the beginning. Many of you have achieved even higher returns through additional trading signals, and the continuous upgrades in your groups have brought immense joy!

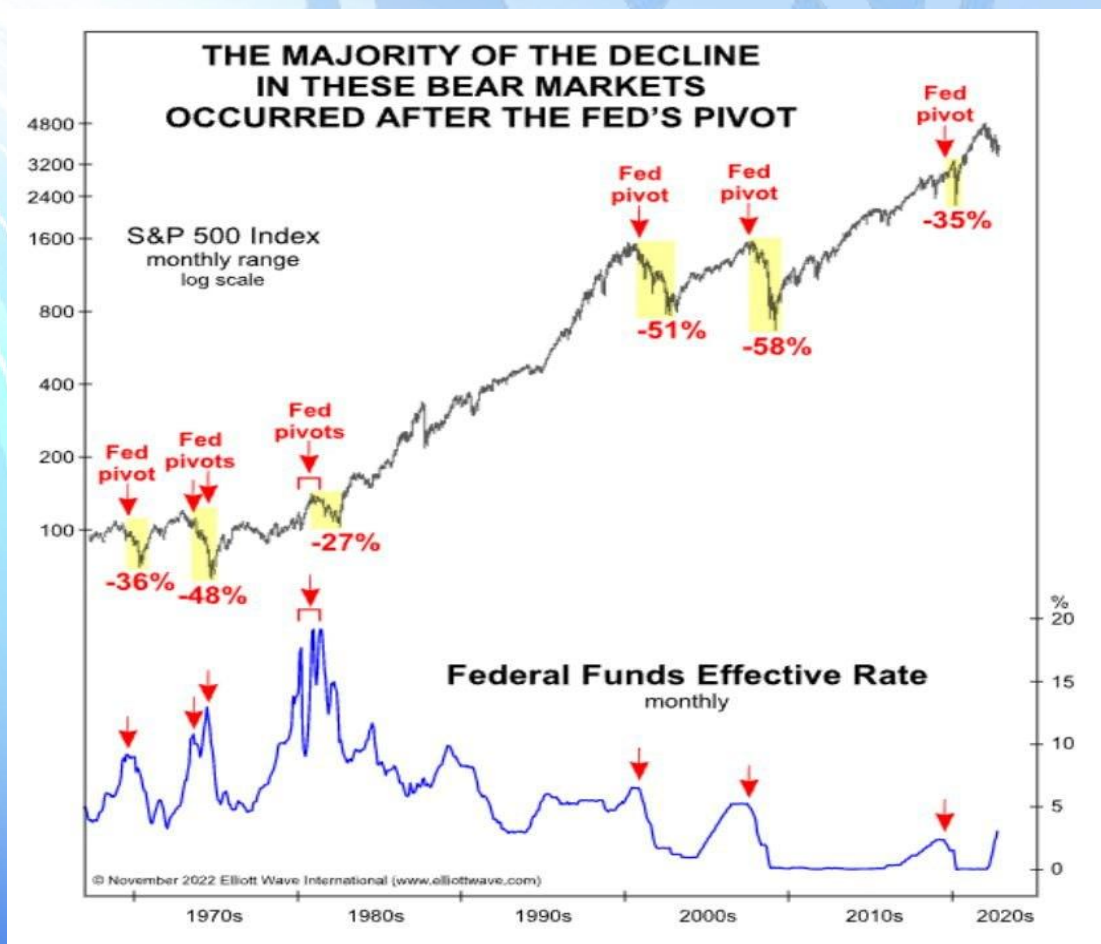

Since the rule adjustments on August 12th, we have not only captured this golden opportunity for super profits but also enjoyed the excellent benefits ahead of the AI4.0 system's launch. These adjustments are designed to encourage everyone to boldly chase their dreams, bringing a greater sense of achievement and more opportunities. Have you also felt this thrilling change?

This week, we will welcome a series of exciting benefits, opening the door to your journey towards becoming a millionaire! The challenges in the stock market are also awaiting our clever responses. Please take the time to carefully read today's message, seize the upcoming opportunities, and join us in facing the challenges to create even more brilliant achievements!

Last Friday, the global central bank meeting concluded successfully, with Federal Reserve Chairman Jerome Powell delivering the anticipated dovish remarks, hinting at a 25 basis point rate cut during the September 17-18 monetary policy meeting. This news has captured the attention of global investors, all eagerly watching to see if this will ignite a bull market in U.S. stocks.

However, dear friends, we must not take this situation lightly. Over the weekend, I took some time to delve into critical data, which brought back memories of the challenging times during the market's lowest point in 2008. The market is always cyclical—are we standing on the brink of the next storm? This is something worth our deep reflection and vigilance.

History teaches us that rate cuts are not always a positive signal, especially when the market is extremely bullish. On the contrary, a rate cut can signal that the economy is in trouble, often accompanied by market peaks and subsequent crashes, such as:

- January 3, 2001: The Federal Reserve began cutting rates, but after a brief 3.5-week rally, the S&P 500 eventually collapsed, with a decline of up to -51%.

- September 18, 2007: The Federal Reserve initiated its first rate cut, leading the S&P 500 to peak 3.5 weeks later, followed by a crash that bottomed out in 2009, with a maximum decline of -58%.

As we look back at the history of the 1960s and 70s, each time the Federal Reserve pivoted to rate cuts, it seemed to precede a massive stock market crash and the onset of a bear market. Now, as we stand once again at this historical juncture, could the current expectations of rate cuts similarly trigger severe market turmoil?

Let us stay clear-headed. The current market environment mirrors those past instances, and all signs point to a warning we cannot afford to ignore: the stock market may be facing the risk of a crash!

By closely examining unemployment rates and economic data, we can almost confirm: it's not the rate cuts that cause the market to collapse, but rather that an economic recession has already quietly arrived, forcing the Federal Reserve into a reactive, crisis-driven rate cut. However, due to the lag in the transmission of monetary policy, by the time the rescue arrives, the market might already be beyond saving.

This is the essence of the "Sam Rule": the data clearly reveals signs of an economic downturn. The Fed's upcoming rate cut is not a proactive measure but a reactive response to unfolding circumstances.

While rate cuts can improve economic conditions, in an environment where market sentiment and economic fundamentals are deteriorating, the stock market may still continue to decline. Rate cuts and bear markets often go hand in hand—history has ruthlessly confirmed this!

Dear Friends, Family, and Esteemed Future Investment Masters,

In these turbulent times, we must face reality with clear eyes.

When the market is gripped by panic, we must become even more vigilant and cautious. The key now lies in calmly analyzing market trends and flexibly adjusting our investment strategies to respond to the ever-changing situation.

The signs of a storm are already apparent, and market unease is becoming increasingly evident. Technical charts are signaling that a new round of adjustments could erupt at any moment. I foresee the possibility of false breakouts in the indices, often triggered by the last wave of investors rushing in. Therefore, now is the optimal time to sell stocks. This is not just a warning but a carefully considered piece of advice and a strategic signal!

I understand that some may still harbor a sense of optimism, but I must emphasize: since May 2022, I have consistently maintained a cautious stance on the indices. Now, my bearish outlook on the medium-term market is more resolute than ever.

FB Finance Institute - 15th Session

We must recognize that the best investment opportunities may not arise until next year, by which time many of you will have achieved a leap in social status through our current Strategic Partner Program. With the strong support of the Ai4.0 system, we will enter an entirely new phase.

So, the most important question now is: What actions are you ready to take? Your decisions today will directly impact your future success.

At this crucial moment, our Strategic Partner Program has reached a climactic second stage due to the competition for the next Chief Practical Instructor.

Our six teams have set a minimum return target of 300%-1000%, and both the Option Wizard and the Crypto Shark are confident and eager to achieve this goal by the end of the month. Now, let's focus on the key opportunities at hand:

1. The Showdown is About to Unfold

This week, we will see who can rise to the top and showcase their strongest abilities. The winner will continue to lead the Senior Strategic Partner and Principal Strategic Partner teams, while the runner-up will be tasked with leading the Associate Strategic Partner and Intermediate Strategic Partner teams.

FB Finance Institute - 15th Session

The decisive factor will be who contributes more to the pre-sale of the Ai4.0 system, determining who will ultimately emerge as the true victor!

Are you excited to see your profits multiply this week? This is an exceptional opportunity—seize it, and you will witness tremendous returns on your investment!

2.The Arrival of a High Volatility Period

Starting this Friday, the release of key economic indicators—including the year-over-year Core PCE Price Index for July, the final reading of the August University of Michigan Consumer Sentiment Index, and next month's Non-Farm Payroll and CPI data—will begin. These data points are expected to trigger significant market volatility, offering us even more opportunities for profit.

3. Subscription to High-Quality ICO Projects

This week, we will enter the online subscription phase for a high-quality ICO project. This is a rare opportunity to see your investment rapidly appreciate in the emerging markets!

Thus, from this week onward, the strongest benefit period before the Ai4.0 launch officially begins. This new gold rush is set to create numerous millionaires and even multimillionaires. Are you willing to miss out on such an opportunity? The time to act is now!

Dear Friends,

AI 4.0

Let's dive into the exciting world of investing in high-quality ICOs! In every bull market, ICOs (Initial Coin Offerings) have been a key driving force that cannot be overlooked. Looking back at the peak of the 2017 bull market, it was the thriving development of ICOs that propelled it forward, and today's bull market will similarly feature the brilliance of ICOs.

The wealth creation legend of ETH is often discussed, but it is not an isolated case. Projects like Dogecoin have also demonstrated incredible wealth potential. Dogecoin was born in 2013 as a cryptocurrency featuring the Shiba Inu dog as its mascot. Initially created as a joke, it gradually gained widespread attention due to its humorous image and strong community support.

Elon Musk's tweets further catapulted Dogecoin into the spotlight with statements like "Dogecoin might be my fav cryptocurrency. It's pretty cool" and "The people's crypto," leading to impressive price surges!

In 2015, Dogecoin's price was nearly negligible, at just $0.000085; by 2021, its price skyrocketed to $0.74, achieving an astonishing ten-thousand-fold return. Much like ETH's wealth creation journey, these success stories vividly illustrate the enormous potential of ICO investments.

Our company is about to launch an innovative biotech data sharing and collaboration platform - BioChainX.

Dear users,

We are excited to announce the upcoming launch of the 'BioChainX' project, an innovative biotech data sharing and collaboration platform.

Token Name: BCX

Introduction:

BioChainX is an innovative biotechnology data sharing and collaboration platform, which primarily leverages the advantages of blockchain technology to address the challenges faced in the biotechnology field such as data security and privacy protection, scientific research cooperation and data sharing, and the authenticity and credibility of clinical trial data. The project aims to build a secure, transparent, and efficient global biotechnology data sharing and collaboration ecosystem to foster advancements in scientific research, drug development, personalized medicine, and other areas.

The vision of BioChainX is to become the leading global platform for biotechnology data sharing and collaboration, providing safe and efficient data storage, sharing, and collaboration services to researchers, medical institutions, biotechnology companies, and others. Its mission is to integrate blockchain technology with the actual needs of the biotechnology field, driving continuous development and innovation in the biotechnology industry and making a positive contribution to human health and welfare.

Dear Friends,

Let's take inspiration from the success story of Dogecoin to dive deeper into the promising ICO project—BioChainX (BCX)!

1. Concept and Application

BioChainX (BCX) is a top-tier innovative project that combines biotechnology with blockchain technology. Unlike Dogecoin's humorous positioning, BCX has profound real-world application value. This project aims to introduce blockchain technology into the biotechnology field, bringing significant innovation to life sciences. The application scenarios for BCX are vast, and the profit potential is enormous, making it a highly anticipated project.

2. The Secret to Winning

Participating in ICO projects in the cryptocurrency market differs from participating in traditional stock market IPOs. With ICOs, as long as you participate, you are guaranteed to receive an allocation, with the proportion typically determined by your investment amount and timing of participation.

Private message me, and I'll share some strategies to help you increase your chances of securing a higher allocation, allowing you to stand out in this ICO.

3. Funding Cycle

The online subscription for BioChainX will start in the second half of this week, and the token is set to list next week. The funding cycle is incredibly short—within a week—meaning you can quickly witness the results of your investment and rapidly gain returns.

4. Risk-Free High-Yield Model

Transparent Data:

Unlike stock IPOs, in cryptocurrency ICOs, all subscription data is public. We can view the participation levels of investors and the progress of the project at any time. This transparency allows us to clearly gauge the project's popularity.

High Subscription Indicates Strong Demand:

If we observe that a project's subscription amount exceeds expectations, it usually signifies high interest from the market. In such cases, the project is already very successful, and the risk is zero. I anticipate that BCX's data will exceed all expectations!

Predicting the Opening Price:

Based on the progress data from the online subscription, we can predict the token's price trend once it's listed. Strong subscription indicates that the post-listing performance is also likely to be strong. This allows you to have a good estimate of potential returns even before investing.

High-Yield Opportunities:

Historical experience shows that when an ICO project's subscription data is strong, the post-listing price often sees a significant increase. It's like having an opportunity to know future prices in advance, giving you the potential for substantial returns. I am confident that BCX will deliver multiple times the returns—it's practically guaranteed!

5. Leveraging the Power of the Funding Pool

Concept of the Funding Pool:

In this BCX ICO, the issuer and the trading center have established a "green channel," meaning that if our institute's collective funding amount and contribution are substantial enough, we have the chance to secure 100% token allocation. This collective funding advantage allows us to stand out among many investors.

Investment Example:

Imagine you invest $100,000 in a traditional IPO, but due to limited allocations, you may not receive any shares. However, in an ICO, as long as you participate, you are guaranteed to receive tokens. Suppose your allocation rate is 10%, you would receive $10,000 worth of tokens. If the token's price increases by 500% upon listing, you would earn $50,000 in profit.

Increasing Your Allocation Rate:

If you private message me, I can share some special techniques that could boost your allocation rate to 20%. This means you would receive more tokens, and naturally, your profits would increase as well.

Advantages of the Green Channel:

If our collective funding pool performs exceptionally well and receives green channel approval, it ensures a 100% allocation rate.

For instance, if you invest $100,000, a 100% allocation rate means you would receive $100,000 worth of tokens. With a 500% increase in the opening price, your profit could soar to $500,000!

Dear Friends, Family, and Future Investment Masters,

Today, we stand at a brand-new starting point. Let's summarize the key takeaways from today's important discussions:

1. As the rate cuts draw nearer, we are standing on the brink of a storm. The risks of an economic recession are gradually surfacing, and the wise choice is to sell stocks early to protect your investments.

2. The competition for the next Chief Practical Instructor has reached a critical stage. The Option Wizard and the Crypto Shark are giving it their all, and this week they will showcase their exceptional profit-generating abilities. Are you ready to celebrate their success?

3. With the upcoming showdown, the release of crucial economic data, and the emergence of high-quality ICO projects, we are entering the strongest profit cycle. Don't miss this golden opportunity—let's ride the wave of wealth together!

4. Today, I provided an in-depth analysis of the BCX ICO project. From "Concept and Application" to "The Secret to Winning," "Funding Cycle," "Risk-Free High-Yield Model," and "Funding Pool Advantage," each aspect is filled with enormous profit potential. Now is the best time to act—private message me, and together we'll seize this rare opportunity and enjoy substantial returns!

At 3:30 PM ET, the Option Wizard, Mr. Wilson, will deliver his exciting presentation. He is currently the frontrunner in the race for the next Chief Practical Instructor. With a slight lead, how will he guide his supporters on the path to explosive profits? Don't miss his session—get the most cutting-edge investment strategies and witness his extraordinary performance!

Wishing everyone a fulfilling and enjoyable week ahead!

Good afternoon, dear friends! I'm James Wilson. A brand new week has begun—are you ready to set sail with me? Shortly, I'll be providing real time trading signals, so please stay tuned to the updates to avoid missing any opportunities. If you do miss a signal, remember to DM me or my assistant right away so we can arrange the next trading opportunity for you. Join my team, and let's ride the waves together in the vast ocean of cryptocurrency!

This week marks the final stage of our group's profit plan. Thanks to our success in seizing the Golden Friday opportunity, we are now significantly ahead of Mr. Shark. Throughout my showdown with Mr. B, I believe everyone has seen my dedication. I approach every trade with seriousness, responsibility, and careful consideration. I take a more comprehensive view of things, and my promises are grounded in the American spirit: commitment, pursuit of excellence, and a focus on integrity and responsibility. I'm not just concerned about your financial profits; I'm also willing to discuss life's pleasures and family responsibilities with you. In every aspect, I've walked this journey with you, treating you as a true comrade in arms. So, friends, joining my team will be the best decision you make this year! We will win and claim everything that belongs to the victor!

The chart shows that both the main and secondary indicators are resonating, signaling a strong bearish trend on the daily candlestick chart—a classic M-top formation. This pattern typically appears at the end of an uptrend, indicating that the market is likely to experience a downturn. The M-top is characterized by a double-peak structure, suggesting that the bullish momentum is weakening while bearish forces are gaining strength. Once this pattern is confirmed, it often leads to a significant price correction or decline.

The KDJ indicator in the sub-chart has also formed a "death cross"! The last time we saw such a strong bearish signal, the index dropped by about 12%. During that decline, the entire stock market turned into a sea of red, with many popular stocks plummeting. What's even more critical is that the most important earnings report of the year is imminent—$NVDA is set to release its Q2 FY2025 earnings after the close this Wednesday. This report is expected to stir up massive waves in the U.S. stock market!

$NVDA is a stock that Professor Clark guided his students to invest in early on, back when it was priced around $40-$50. During that time, despite two earnings seasons, Professor Clark remained steadfast in his positive outlook on the stock's future trend. Now, with the earnings report about to be released, one would expect him to highlight $NVDA if he were still very optimistic. However, today he has remained silent, not mentioning it at all. Why is that? It's something worth pondering.

The market's upward potential has been driven by the seven tech giants, with their core focus still on AI. And within AI, the spotlight is on $NVDA's upcoming earnings report. But the issue now isn't whether $NVDA's performance will be positive or negative; it's a matter of expectations. The question is whether the massive investments made by these tech giants in AI can yield returns that match those expectations. The true answer behind this expectation isn't with you or me—it lies with the 1% of whales, the giants of Wall Street.

If they believe in the potential, they'll push the narrative, drawing in retail investors to follow. But if they deem the investments unreasonable, they'll sell off in large volumes, leaving a pile of bodies in their wake. So, when you consider following these whales in placing your bets, the outcome often ends in disaster, leaving you utterly defeated. Wall Street's whales have a tendency to strike hard when investor enthusiasm is at its peak, ruthlessly harvesting the bloodied stakes of retail investors!

Wall Street's behavior is something we see many times each year, and we're about to witness their moves again. Will it be a surge to new heights or a bloodbath? I won't gamble, and I won't guess. My trading philosophy is to always make investments with a high degree of certainty, and I always keep risks within an acceptable range. My responsibility also prevents me from leading everyone into risky ventures.

In my investment perspective, at least two opportunities are more certain than the current U.S. stock market:

First, we've just secured our eleventh victory in the 20 win streak,

FB Finance Institute - 15th Session

proving through action that trading in the cryptocurrency market at this point in time offers a much higher success rate than the U.S. stock market. We will maintain this momentum, continue to push forward, and reach our profit targets, ultimately claiming the victor's trophy.

Second, the ICO market is entering its optimal investment cycle, offering a completely different investment model. It stands out with its low entry barriers, no risk nature, high returns, short cycles, and strong certainty. Next, I'll be giving a detailed explanation of how to approach ICO projects and the principles for making sound judgments.

Let's take BNB as an example. BNB's ICO took place in 2017, with each BNB priced at around $0.10. BNB is the native token of Binance, and holders enjoy benefits such as trading fee discounts on the Binance exchange. BNB was launched alongside Binance's rapid rise, which quickly became one of the world's largest cryptocurrency exchanges. By 2021, BNB's price had skyrocketed to over $600. This means that an investment of $1,000 during the ICO would have been worth over $6 million by 2021!

Now, let's analyze the key factors that contributed to BNB's success:

First, Practical Application: BNB was directly tied to the use of the Binance exchange, creating sustained demand.

Second, Platform Growth: Binance's rapid expansion and global influence drove BNB's appreciation.

Third, Diversified Applications: BNB gradually expanded its use cases, including payments, lending, and investing in other projects.

The success of Binance's ICO was not a coincidence. In fact, the global popularity of the cryptocurrency market stems from its freedom and lack of restrictions. It doesn't care about your skin color, nationality, or identity. What I mean is, it's fair—it offers everyone the same respect and opportunities. Now, let's take a look at another ICO case.

MIOTA's ICO took place in 2015, with an initial price of $0.00059. IOTA utilizes Tangle technology, aiming to provide decentralized solutions for the Internet of Things (IoT). Its unique characteristics—no blocks, no miners, and no transaction fees—set it apart in the market. By the end of 2017, IOTA's price had reached $5.69, meaning that a $1,000 investment during the ICO would have been worth over $9 million by 2017!

Let's analyze the key factors behind MIOTA's ICO success:

First, Unique Technology: The innovation of Tangle technology allowed IOTA to stand out among numerous blockchain projects.

Second, IoT Market Potential: IOTA targeted the IoT market, offering a solution with real-world application potential.

Third, Market Timing: Launched during the peak of the cryptocurrency boom, it attracted significant investor interest.

Friends, from the data above, we can identify several key aspects that quality ICO projects share:

Friends, please remember these key points:

First, Innovation: Groundbreaking new technologies or concepts often attract significant investment.

Second, Practical Application: The integration of tokens with real world applications or ecosystems is crucial for success.

Third, Market Timing: Launching an ICO during periods of high market enthusiasm or strong demand for related technologies enhances its potential for appreciation.

Fourth, Transparency and Credibility: The transparency and credibility of the project team are vital in attracting investors.

Based on these four principles, we find that the BioChainX ICO project perfectly aligns with these criteria: it features groundbreaking technology, has a unique and scarce value proposition, and excels in integrating with real world applications. Moreover, it embodies the core principles of blockchain—fairness, transparency, openness, and equality. The cryptocurrency market is currently in a bull phase, with high market enthusiasm.

Whether Harris or Trump wins the election, both outcomes are favorable for the cryptocurrency market.

BioChainX ICO project represents a rare investment opportunity! My rating for this is clear—this is an unmissable chance for anyone involved in the cryptocurrency market! I personally anticipate that this project will deliver multiplied returns on our risk free investments!

So, how can we seize this opportunity with certainty? Key points below!!!

First, it's understood that due to the high scarcity and strong market expectations for this ICO project, the minimum subscription amount starts at $1,000.

Second, like an IPO, an ICO also has the issue of allocation rates. For high quality projects, we naturally want a higher allocation rate. How can you achieve that? Please directly message me immediately, and I will provide you with a customized, optimal subscription strategy.

Third, the BioChainX subscription begins at 00:00:00 ET on August

FB Finance Institute - 15th Session

29, 2024. Set your alarms and be ready to participate in this guaranteed profit opportunity.

Fourth, the issuer and the trading center have set up a “Green Channel.” If our funding volume meets the expected quota, we will have the opportunity to secure this “Green Channel,” guaranteeing a 100% allocation rate! This is the time priority and capital priority principle.

Friends, if you understand, please reply.
